Methodist Picnic.
The M. E. church held its annual picnic at Gibson's grove, Wednesday, July 2nd. They were taken up to lake in the steamer and launches. After getting there, arrangements were made to make lemonade, swings were put up, croquet sets were laid out and everybody found place to put their eatables. Many of the young people enjoyed the picnic very much around the lake in boats.

At noon all sat down to enjoy the good things that had been prepared for the occasion. Different tables were spread, some of the table cloths were white, some paper and others mother earth's fine table cloth.

The afternoon was spent in various ways, such as rowing, playing croquet, base ball, games and swinging. The base ball game was very interesting.
Both sides were well matched, the only being men, boys and women. The result of the game was a score of 7 to 7.
About 100 in all attended the picnic.

It was reported that it was the best picnic they have ever enjoyed. About 4 o'clock a boat took some of the passengers down and as there were so many boats had to make three trips, the last leaving about quarter past six.

One accident occurred during the day.

his bicycle, and just as he was coming into the grove his bicycle struck a rock, pitching him over to the ground. It was found after he got up that his collar bone was broken. He was taken home in Verne Whitman's launch and attended by a physician.

"The Convict's Daughter."
The greatest of all last season's melodramatic successes was undoubtedly that of "The Convict's Daughter." So far this season it has been repeating its success. The theatres are crowded nightly and the box office receipts again prove the wonderful drawing powers of this great dramatic play. There is something so sensational and so thrilling about the play that it has spellbound from the rise until the fall of the curtain. It pleases both sexes and all classes of people for it is an American play by an American author, and written for the melodramatic loving public. Peaceful and stirring scenes follow each other in rapid succession.

The play is in five acts and has a wealth of beautiful scenery. The dialogue is bright, witty and full of comedy. It will be presented at Newway Opera House, Tuesday evening, July 14.

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

NUMBER 28.
JULY 10, 1908, NORWAY, MAINE.
VOLUME XXXIX.

Mrs. Sumner Burnham.
Mrs. Christiana (Washburn) Burnham, died in Portland, aged 98 years, 4 months and 14 days; was brought to Norway, Tuesday, for burial in Pine Grove cemetery. She was the wife of Sumner Burnham, who died in Portland, June 23, 1878.
Shortly after the death of her husband,
Mrs. Burnham visited her children at Lincoln, Neb., when the husband of her daughter Alice died and she with her daughter, Mrs. Alice Fuller, returned to Norway, where they lived for ten years.
After the death of Mrs. Fuller she made it her home with her daughter, Mrs. F.
A. Evans of Portland, who has tenderly cared for her in her declining years.
She retained her mental faculties remarkably well and has four times visited her children in Lincoln, Neb.

Mrs. Burnham was the daughter of Manassa Washburn of Hebron, and she married Sumner Burnham, one of the leading business men in Norway village and town.

Mr. Burnham came to Norway village from Harrison in 1858, exchanging his property in Harrison for real estate with Francis H. Whitman. He was a man of energy, genial, social and kind-hearted, and the family were one of the first in the village. He was one of the trustees of the Norway Savings Bank, and one of the founders of the Norway National Bank. He was the first president of the national bank and served till his death.

Mr. Burnham was a most efficient sheriff and State detective during the war and was especially employed to look after the smugglers along the Canadian border.
He served much in town office and was representative from Norway in 1882.

She leaves four children, Sumner
W. Burnham, Silas H. Burnham and Mrs.
Henry Robie of Nebraska and Mrs. F. A.
Evans with whom she made her home at Portland.

Her son, S. H. Burnham of Lincoln, Neb., and daughter, Mrs. F. A. Evans and daughter, Miss Evans of Portland, came to Norway with the remains. A prayer by Rev. E. S. Cotton and brief services were held at Pine Grove cemetery. Mrs. Burnham was a member of prominent in Baptist circle.

Young America Evades a Creditor.
We overheard the 4th of July one small boy say to another: "You run into Bicknell's and get a box of 22-blank cartridges. Here's the money," and he handed him 25 cents and stepped around the corner near the store out of sight.
Our curiosity was aroused and we asked him why he didn't go in and get the cartridges himself. He didn't feel willing to tell, but on being pressed said: "I owe Bicknell 25 cents and I won't get the money and I wouldn't get any cartridges. See?"

The small boy soon returned with the cartridges and ten cents in change which he handed over to the other boy, whose face was wreathed in smiles, and the Fourth of July celebration went on as happily as though he didn't owe a cent in the world.

Was It Wicked?
There is, or used to be, in Lake Pennesseewassee in Norway, Oxford county, a small island which was known as "the floating island."

Around it was a favorite resort for pickerel fishing. These fish seemed to lie under and around its sides.
Several years ago a very devout minister from Farmington, N. H., was visiting there, and like Peter, was an enthusiastic fisherman.

One morning about 4 o'clock, it was my good fortune to go fishing with the Elder, as he was universally called. He had an old bamboo rod and a large cotton line attached. We had made a few casts near the banks of the island and caught a few small pickerel, when the Elder made a most fortunate cast, landing his frog he was using for bait very near the island. The frog had but just struck the water when we saw the large pickerel rise and take it. He was really a monster. The Elder waited until the fish had swallowed it and then gave a sharp pull. The fish was hooked sure enough, rolled up on his side—a fish that would weigh at least 18 pounds.

horrible and fireworks in the evening.

On the morning of the Fourth we noticed a sign printed by parties unknown and hung on Alfred Everett's house which read, "Home for old men, pensioners preferred," which was quite a bit as he had three old soldiers stopping with him at the time.

There was no regular celebration here.
The "night before" there was about the

PIGEON HILL.
Bleed Poisoning.
Perley Martin is at the hospital at Lewiston for blood poisoning. It began Tuesday evening, July 1. President McIntire in the chair. E. Walker McKean of Fryeburg was present in place of Prof. Leon S. Merrill, State Instructor. Prof. Rabell, previously announced as one of the speakers expected, was not present as expected but he will come at a later meeting. A goodly number of members were in attendance, about a third being ladies who are practically interested in dairying as a commercial business. A volunteer choir sang several selections from the Grange song-book, which pleased the audience so that on call of the president a vote of thanks was passed to the singers. Jennie Hamlin presided at the piano.

Arthur Sanderson opened the discussion on subject of care of milk and milk-room, etc. He said it was his custom to wipe the udder with a damp cloth before milking, and recommended keeping the milk-ens submerged.

E. K. Kilgore milks two pails full, then takes it to the house and separates the cream, setting it into ice water at once. He thinks it pays to grain his cows in summer. Likes feed corn for forage crop, thinks it good idea to have silo for summer feeding. Feeds cotton seed meal and mixed feed now.

C. S. Hamlin—He separates cream at once after milking. Keeps ice in tank. Feeds one-half of winter ration of grain, cotton seed meal and Dairy feed. Thinks summer silo a good thing.

E. L. Skinner—Believes in feeding about half of winter feed of grain, but as he has feed enough he cuts out the grain ration. Will feed grain again as soon as cows dry up a little. Believes in feeding enough to keep the cows "up." Milk tank should be kept sealed with water and away from the barn. Milk taken from barn as soon as possible, and put cream in tank as soon as separated, and keep ice in tank.

Pres. McIntire emphasized keeping cans covered by water. Also thinks dry hay might be profitably fed to cows when they are at pasture.

George Dilton—Would feed grain both winter and summer. Dry hay is better than silage. Feeds cotton seed meal and Haskell's Stock food.

L. J. Saunders—Always feed grain. Would recommend feeding some green forage crop, planted or sown early. Thinks cans should be submerged and tank well iced. The milk should be removed from the stable as soon as possible.

Prof. B. W. McKean—Recommended utmost cleanliness in milking; experiment of keeping milk on ice a failure. Thinks milk should be separated at once after milking. It is not necessary to cover the can with water. Milk is in the best condition as it comes from the cow if kept clean. It is not improved by aerating or pasteurizing. Cows must be fed so as not to shrink in milk. Cows will do well upon an abundance of pasture grass without grain. Believes in good corn silage; for summer, oats sown for pasture feed, but not feed to close at first. Thinks hay a good feed for summer. Pasture grass a highly protein feed. We must feed less protein food in summer; thinks corn meal a good summer feed.

An argument followed Prof. McKean's address upon the question of submerging cans. Mr. McKean said that though it was the general impression that there is a necessity to have water cover the milk.

Mr. Skinner suggested as topic of discussion for next meeting—Light and Ventilation. The chair was held by E. Skinner for light and Arthur Sanderson on ventilation. Next meeting, first Wednesday in August at 8 p. m. sharp. There will be women and music.

At 2 p. m. Tuesday the mercury registered 100 degrees here.

The Lake House and other hostleries are being rapidly filled by coming guests each day.

The prolonged drought is at an end. A shower on Saturday night brought much relief, saturating the dry soil to considerable depth. On Tuesday afternoon a pouring shower of a half hour or more accompanied by fierce lightning and loud thunder made it certain that the drought was surely broken. Haying is going on briskly but the predictions of a light crop, perhaps not more than half or two-thirds, is probably correct.

A very busy doctor who uses an automobile in making professional tours, through the subject to replenish his gasoline tank at the proper time, was unexpectedly stalled on the ascent of one of our sand hills the other evening. No gasoline being obtainable at any store, the doctor was obliged to send a message by telephone to his home four miles distant for a supply of the needful power producer. He was detained some more than an hour.

Bear Mountain Grange held its regular semi-monthly meeting on July 4th with a patriotic demonstration in honor of Children's Day for which quite an elaborate program of exercises was presented. The forenoon session was occupied by conferring the first and second degrees on five candidates, a large number of members being present. Promptly at noon the assembled company was called to refreshment in the banquet hall, where a profusion of delicious food awaited them, accompanied by lemonade and ice cream. THE FOURTH AT NORWAY.

No Fireworks but lots of noise. Three great ball games and other sports at the Fair Grounds. Good attendance all day.

Who said there wasn't going to be any Fourth at Norway? To be sure the Fourth didn't come and it was a dangerous proposition to allow the sale or use of fireworks or sky rockets. But those are not the only things that make a noise. The observance began Friday with here and there a bonfire of the horn, the number of toots gradually increasing, then being reinforced with torpedoes and the fire of blank cartridges till evening when the "music" could be heard all about town.

At midnight the noise began in good earnest. At one place you might see a crowd gathered about the residence of some slumbering comrade entreating him in "soft" tones to arise and join the ranks. At another place the crowd was giving salutes with the cannon and everywhere could be heard trumpets, torpedoes and the explosion of blank cartridges. The bells at the Universalist, Methodist and Congregational churches made music. Some thing like a dozen special watchmen did duty looking after a possible fire and to see that the enthusiasm of the celebrators didn't get beyond the bounds of good citizenship. Some signs were removed from their customary resting places and placed in a conspicuous position elsewhere but no damage was done.

At The Fair Grounds.

Saturday forenoon a good crowd began to gather at the fair grounds to witness the ball games and other sports. The Norway brass band was in attendance all day and at one o'clock they gave one of their fine concerts. At this time also were held the races which had been advertised. The entries were not large but all the same quite a bit of amusement resulted.

In the potato race were "Key" Lowell, Hiram Libby and W. F. Jackson. Lowell got first and Libby second prize.

In the 100 yard dash were Levi Marston, Urshall Gammon, Roy Jordan and Gammon second.

In the one quarter mile run W. J. Jackson, Levi Marston and Ed Rich were the contestants. Jackson won first and Marston second.

In the obstacle race were Urshall Gammon, Frank Price and W. F. Jackson. Gammon won first and Price second. The prizes in each race were $2 for first and $1 for second.

The Ball Games.

Three exciting ball games were played on the fair grounds, July 4.

The first game at 10 o'clock was interesting from the fact that Norway put South Paris under for the prize, but they were the score of 4 to 0, with Rich in the box for South Paris and Leith from Lawrence for Norway.

The second game between West Paris and Auburn, called at 1:45 (fifteen minutes before the time advertised) was a tight one, going thirteen innings before a winner could be decided, and resulting in the score of 3 to 7 in favor of Auburn.

The third game between Auburn and Norway was won by Auburn, 7 to 0. Norway made a great fight for the game in the last inning, but came one shy of tying the score. Norway failed to play out the string by not putting in a pinch batter in place of Perkins in the last inning, when a hit would have won this game.

Umpire E. Records was called to pass on a great many close plays, and while he failed to please everybody he was evidently giving his decisions as he saw them—that is an umpire's business. A true sport will yell "Rotten, rotten" when a decision does not please them, and it is plainly evident that the umpire is doing his level best.

Following is the score of the games in order in which they were played:

Fourth Notes.

We understand that some of the young ladies were patriotic and did their share in ringing one of the church bells.

Friday evening quite a crowd watched a balloon that sailed over the village far up in the air and then looked victoriously at the show windows where were displayed balloons, fire crackers and the like, but which they were prohibited from having.

There were many evidences that large quantities of "wet goods" were being consumed. Friday and Saturday nights and at the fair grounds Saturday one didn't need opera glasses, nor did it require more than ordinary observation to witness the numerous "staggering celebrators."

The story is told of several personages who were presumably fatigued and stopped by the highway and when they woke up it looked very much as though "Billy, the Boy Artist" had been along and done a little work.

Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham.

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

That Great Political "Why."

Why is it we hear so little of platform and principle after election?

Why is it that candidates who pledge themselves to give the best there is in them to the office's work if elected, soon give half or three-fourths of their time to some other business?

Why does "the other party" do all the mean, wicked, dirty, underhanded things?

Why are candidates and politicians so interested in educating the people that before election they spend weeks traveling about the country, "preaching ignorance to the heathen?"

Why are people fooled by campaign thunders?

Why can't two parties have one grand principle in common?

Why are men said to "buy office?"

Why do they "capture" the election?

Why do office holders neglect the details in their own business and leave it for clerks to half do that they may earn additional money and do additional business outside of their office?

Why is the man who sells his one vote more than the man who buys a thousand?

Why does the believer in prohibition deal out liquor to the voter?

Why does a truthful man shout and throw up his hat for things political that he knows is all booby?

Why do men leave for offices?

Why can't everything in politics be above board? Be by the people and for the people?

Why can't a political preference be a political honor?

Woodlots in Japan.

In these times of great drains on the timber supply, caused by the heavy demand for forest products of all kinds, Americans may see in Japan an example of what can be done in growing wood on small plots.

That country contains 21 million woodlots, about three-fourths of which belong to private persons and one-fourth to communes.

The average size of the plots is less than one-sixth of an acre. They are usually composed of the steepest, roughest, poorest ground. In this way land is put to use which would otherwise go waste, and if unwooded would lose its soil by the wash of the dashing rains.

From Japan woodlots, the yearly yield of lumber is about 35 feet, board measure, per acre, and three-fourths of a cord of firewood. In many cases the yield is much higher. More than half a billion trees are planted yearly to make up what is cut for lumber and fuel.

Assessment for taxation is low, averaging for the 21 million lots less than a dollar an acre.

With all the care in cutting and the industry in replanting it is by no means certain that Japan's forests are holding their own. If the preservation of the forests is doubtful there, it is evident that depletion must be alarmingly rapid in other countries which cut unsparingly and plant very little. On the other hand it is encouraging to see what can be done with rough, steep and poor land. The United States has enough of that kind, without touching the rich agricultural acres, to grow millions of feet of lumber.

The newly formed militia companies in Rumford and Livermore to the 2nd Regiment, Infantry are Co. B and Co. C, 2nd Regt., respectively.

In the assignment of companies and majors to battalions, Co. B of Rumford, Co. C of Livermore, Co. D of Norway and Co. K of Farmington are assigned to the third battalion. Major George L. McPherson of Farmington, commander.

"The Maine Woods thus goes into raptures—Gains a fishing! Only a very commonplace statement, but how much it covers in the glorious, balmy State of Maine! How it recalls quiet nooks, gleaming waters, babbling streams! How it awakens memories of pleasant hours spent along some secluded water course and whose language had become dear to us, because of its distinctive individuality!"

Four high school graduates received their diplomas from the Rumford school this year.

BUCKFIELD.

C. C. Withington has purchased a Stanley automobile.

Linn Cole has moved into the rent over the harness store of A. F. Warren.

Mildred Shaw is at home from Bridgewater, Mass., where she is a student in Howard Seminary.

Maurice Tewksbury of Corinna, is engaged to work through the summer for W. M. Ricker, the local barber.

The Buckfield high school ball team suffered defeat at the hands of teams from Paris and Sumner Hill. The first game was lost to the Paris boys by a score of 15 to 13, and the second to Sumner, 12 to 5.

The graduating exercises of the Buckfield high and grammar schools were held at the Baptist church. The church was decorated with evergreen and flowers and the colors of the graduating classes. The class graduating from the high school had three members and the class from the grammar school ten members. The exercises were of a high order of merit. Music was furnished by a quartet.

Bridgton Academy can look back on its hundred years' labor for the good of mankind with pride. Here is a list that has been compiled of some of its distinguished graduates who have helped to make the world better:

Nathan W. Hazen, esq., lawyer.

Rev. Charles Morrill, a Baptist clergyman.

Charles Smith, son of Seba Smith, sr., a man of letters.

Seba Smith, jr., author of the "Jack Downing Letters" and editor Eastern Argus 1820-4.

Timothy Jarvis Carter, secretary of the Senate of Maine, and a member of Congress.

Luther Cullen Carter, who became a wealthy merchant and banker in New York and member of Congress.

Griffith Blake, late of Philadelphia, and Joseph Blake, afterwards a Congressional minister.

Henry Carter, lawyer, judge of the Haverhill police court, formerly editor of the Portland Advertiser.

Cyrus Hamlin, D. D., the devoted missionary, T. T. Tuckey, president of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, now president of Middlebury College, and an author of great eminence.

Emmett F. Carter, a very successful teacher, founder of Temple Grove Seminary, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

C. E. Hilton, afterwards a beloved principal of the academy, and of high repute in educational circles.

Simon C. Walker, an elder brother of Hon. A. H. Walker, a brilliant scholar who was drowned in the dawn of manhood by the grim messenger.

Samuel C. Fessenden, D. D., a brother of Senator Fessenden, afterwards an editor of religious and anti-slavery journals; a member of Congress; one of the examiners in patent office, etc.

George F. Emery, clerk of the U. S. circuit court for many years and an eminent lawyer.

John A. Andrew, afterwards the eminent Massachusetts war-governor.

Edward P. Burnham, Esq., eminent in Masonry and bank official for a long series of years.

Morris C. Blake, recently mayor of San Francisco.

Noah Woods, an able lawyer, and for many years president of the European and North American railroad.

Col. John M. Adams, the well-known Maine journalist, for many years editor Eastern Argus.

Edwidge Gerry, an eminent lawyer, legislator and statesman. As a member of Congress he made a very brilliant record.

Henry Ingalls, now of Wicasset, a lawyer of eminence, who has been much in public life and is everywhere highly esteemed.

Rufus Ingalls, later a West Point graduate, Major General U. S. Army, and chief quartermaster of Grant's army in front of Richmond and Petersburg.

Enoch Knight, now of California, journalist, judge of Portland municipal court, etc.

C. W. Pickard, a veteran journalist, business manager, and one of the publishers of the Portland Transcript.

Albert Gould, an able chemist, teacher of Natural Sciences, and contributor to scientific periodicals.

William Wirt Virgin, an eminent lawyer, and afterwards one of the judges of the Maine supreme court.

Jatrus W. Perry, an able lawyer, author of "Perry on Trusts."

William Warren, D. D., afterwards district secretary A. B. C. Foreign Missions.

Enoch W. Woodbury, for many years prominent in both branches of the Maine legislature, probate judge, superintendent of State Reform school, trustee Maine Insane hospital, etc.

Miss Lauretta and Miss Lavina C. Gibbs, the latter for twelve years teacher of drawing, connected with some of the foremost schools of the country, also a large contributor to the current literature of the day.

David R. Hastings, the well-known Oxford lawyer.

George Peirce Andrews, an able New York lawyer and counsel to the Corporation of the City of New York.

Dexter A. Hawkins, the eminent New York lawyer, whose educational and political pamphlets have been very widely read.

Lafayette Grover, afterwards governor of Oregon, and United States senator from that state.

Cuvier Grover, a war general of brilliant record, division commander of the Nineteenth Army corps, ranking as a major general.

Albin G. Gradstreet, whose brilliant career as a civil engineer and a successful business man was interrupted by death while he was yet in the prime of life.

Mason M. Robinson, New York lawyer, Albert Gray, jr., a successful teacher.

Parris Gibson, United States senator from California, and Lieut. R. E. Peary of Arctic exploration fame graduated here.

Henry P. Cleaves, President of the Dexter, Prof. Edward S. Morse, Cyrus Hamlin, Edward F. Brown and a score of others.

But these are only a few of those who have improved themselves by attending this academy. They are scattered all over the country and many of them have helped to make the near towns in Oxford and Cumberland counties better.

If they are not leading men and women in the nation they are doing so in their localities—the towns and villages where they have made their homes.

Such an array of brains and talent and wealth as the alumni represents could not be forgotten to give substantial aid to their alma mater.

Hon. Melville E. Ingalls started the ball rolling and was followed by President Brown and ex-Gov. Cleaves. Other smaller gifts were also announced. Mr. Ingalls stated in the first place that he would pay the deficit in the building of the new dormitory for girls, and then he agreed to give $5000 toward an endowment fund of $10,000, provided the other $5000 was raised within five years.

He further agreed to give $1000 toward the sewer and water installation, and an additional $1000 if necessary, provided the balance of the cost was met by subscription. Finally he agreed to refit Ingalls hall with sanitary plumbing in the shape of water supply and sewer connections. President Brown made a short but wonderfully eloquent announcement in its way, agreeing to match Ingalls' checks. Gov. Cleaves now agreed to give $500 toward an additional $5000 for endowment.

looks as though the academy would have an endowment of $20,000 before long. It was also announced that the widow of Rev. Truman Perry had given $100 in his name, and liberal donations were made by Mrs. J. M. J. Ingalls and Mrs. Jennie B. Ingalls, this money being for the water and sewerage. Other gifts amounted to $300.

Don't let the good work stop here. Help the old school to a good liberal endowment. Every one of the hundreds of graduates or their descendants should be able and thankful to give $10 each, not as a gift but as a slight acknowledgment for the good the training they got while there has been to them and theirs. We would suggest that "A Book of Honor" be opened and kept among the archives of the institution and each class have a portion in that book in which their names shall be entered for the good of the cause, and to help towards educating others.

The more I think of this "Book of Honor" the better I think of it. Every school of this kind should have one for an endowment fund, and it would be like the snow ball that increases in size as it rolls along, till at last the school would be above struggling need, helped on by its best friends, the boys and girls it had helped.

TO RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS.
Scientific Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Cures.

Neuralgia, Anybody's remarkable cures of rheumatism has probably caused more favorable talk and comment than any other rheumatism cure ever put on the market, as it seems unfailing in curing this dread disease. It is much more successful than ordinary rheumatism remedies, due to its action being entirely different. It is taken in small doses internally, reaching the nerve centers and driving the Uric Acid from the blood. At the same time, it is rubbed on the affected parts, and thus its curative power goes through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves, giving quick relief and cure. So reliable is the Anodyne in curing rheumatism, neuralgia, and all aches and pains that it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if not satisfactory. A large-sized bottle costs 25c; nothing if it does not cure. It is made by The Twitchell-Champlin Co., Portland, Me.

Little Elva Brock went last week to visit for a couple of weeks with her mother's cousin. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Brock, had quite a joke played on them through their over anxiousness for their little daughter who had never been away from them over night before. They both got on the train to see her off all safely and the train started sooner than they expected so were carried to South Paris.
The friends here called them a couple of "oboes" "bumping" their carfare dressed in their working clothes with no hats, and he with no coat or vest, just as he left the shop.
When they reached South Paris they hurried to get on to the return train which meets the down train there. Mr. Brock went to the ticket office to get the tickets while she got aboard. Again he was left while she came home. It was a great surprise trip to them.

Mrs. Susan Chaffin is having her building shingled.
Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Coburn went on a short camping trip to Locke Mills, last week.

Mrs. W. C. White and little son Lionel and sister Wyona V. Farr of Lewiston, are visiting at S. T. White's.
